2.2 Basis of Valuation

Our valuation is provided on the basis of Market Value, which we define as "the estimated amount for which an asset or liability should exchange on the valuation date between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's-length transaction after proper marketing where the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion".

2.3 Approach and Methodology

A real estate asset can be assessed by using different approaches such as

Income Approach

The Income Approach focuses on the income-producing capability of the subject asset. The underlying premise of this approach is that the value of an asset can be measured by the present worth of the net economic benefit to be received over the life of the subject asset. This approach is generally used to assess the value that generates income.

Market Approach

Market Value is a representation of value in exchange, or the amount a property would bring if offered for sale in the (open) market at the date of valuation. Market Value is the estimated amount for which an asset or liability should exchange on the valuation date between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's length transaction, after proper marketing and where the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion.

Cost Approach

The value of the asset under this approach, is estimated by assessing the cost required to replace or create a similar asset in the market. This approach is generally used to assess the value of the Property that comprises of both land and building components. The value of the land is assessed by the market approach method, while the buildings are valued using Depreciated Replacement Cost method.

The table below presents different valuation methodologies and their brief description.

SI. No.	Valuation Methodology Description
		In this method, The value of the asset can be estimated by comparing the subject asset with recently sold/transacted assets (called comps).
		Since no two assets are very identical, adjustments 1	Direct Comparison Method	(premiums or discounts) to be applied for the _	Birect comparison without	differences and similarities in the comparable assets. The adjustments will be based on the factors that might have an impact on the value of the asset such as physical features, marketability, locational features and other varying details.
	Depreciated Replacement Cost	The Depreciated Replacement Cost method involves assessing the cost of replacing an asset with 2		its modern equivalent asset less deductions for _		physical deterioration and all relevant forms of obsolescence and optimization. Generally, used to assess the value of the buildings.
		Within the Income Approach, the DCF analysis technique is the process of analyzing an investment by estimating a series of future cash flows and 3	Discounted Cashflow Method	taking into account the time value of money. For the Discounted Casilliow Method	DCF technique, the income is projected over the investment cycle and the net income is calculated after deduction of the capital and operating expenses.

The Property is an operational commercial building. Considering the purpose of this valuation exercise, and the leasing out and income generating nature of the asset, the valuation has been done using Income Approach. Within the Income Approach, the DCF analysis (basis term and rent reversion) technique has been adopted.

Within the Income Approach, the DCF analysis technique is the process of analyzing an investment by estimating a series of future cash flows and taking into account the time value of money. Discount Rate

This discount rate used for discounting the available cash flows represents Cost of equity (the opportunity cost for shareholders) and Cost of Debt (the opportunity cost for creditors), weighted by their respective contribution to the total capital of the company (WACC).

The cost of equity has been computed as per the Capital Asset Pricing Model (CAPM). The cost of debt for competed commercial / office blocks has been considered based on prevalent financing rates for Grade A commercial / office parks in the city. The weightages accorded to equity and debt are derived through benchmarking the subject property against similar portfolios/properties in the market. For discounting the cash flows, an appropriate discount rate considering the location of Project and market dynamics of the micro market, has been calculated on the basis of estimated 'Weighted Average Cost of Capital' (WACC) which is derived to be 11.75% for the project.

This derived discount rate was found to be aligned with the expectations of investors investing in similar assets.

Capitalization Rate

Capitalization rate is basically the per year yield on the investment a buyer expects once he buys a matured property. This capitalization rate is derived from the amount risk that is involved in that particular type of investment. Generally riskier asset classes have a higher capitalization rate. Since in an efficient market, the return on capital a typical buyer will get will be equal to the cost of capital, the capitalization rate is also an indicator of the return expectations of a typical buyer in the market. Capitalization rate is also inflation protected because as with any property, lease revenues are expected to keep pace with the prevailing inflation. So the returns a buyer gets keeps increasing because of the increase in future lease revenue. In economics terms it's called real return on investment because the purchasing power of your money is maintained and is not eroded by inflation. Capitalization rate is used to calculate the capital value of a property when it is being disposed. There has been no major acquisitions in the recent past. The major transactions in the last five years in Chennai are SP Infocity acquisition by Maple tree in 2018 in Perungudi, acquisition of ETA Technopark by Uniply in Navalur and transaction in One India bulls Park in Ambattur. Similarly, major transactions across the country in the last five years are One BKC Mumbai in 2019 in BKC, Mumbai, Phoenix Aquila Tower A in Gachikowli, Hyderabad in 2021 and Embassy Tech Village in Bangalore in 2020. The indicative cap rates for these transactions are 7.5% to 8.5%.

The capitalization rate assumed for the Property is 8.00%.
